Labor Standards Policy

Introduction

Karex remains committed to enhancing its production facilities and processes in order to retain its position at the forefront of the condom manufacturing industry. Resulting from our business operations, the Company acknowledges its obligations towards its employees, stakeholders and the communities in which it works, and has outlined below its policy in relation to labor standards.

This policy is relevant to the Company itself, our contractors, sub-contractors, suppliers, freelancers, members of the public and other parties engaged with the Company's business. The Company has identified the following compelling reasons to establish a comprehensive system of minimum labor standards to guide its business operations:

- Ethical Responsibilities - the Company acknowledges its obligations towards its employees, stakeholders and the communities in which we work and operate. The Company wishes to carry out work and to do business in an ethical fashion.
- Adverse Publicity and Damage to the Company's Reputation – adverse publicity from the discovery of poor labor standards within the Company's business operations presents reputational and structural risks to the Company not only in terms of revenue, but also in respect of staff recruitment and retention. Poor labor standards can also lead to a loss of trust and confidence with suppliers and also within the wider community. The Company therefore wants to do what is right and be seen to do what is right.
- Reduced Quality of Service – the Company recognizes that there is commonly a link between poor labor standards and poor quality of services. To this end, it is in the interest of the Company to ensure that the Company reaches and exceeds minimum labor standards requirements at all times.
